

ABOUT JANET WASHBURN

Since 1997, Janet's primary focus has helped families create plans that provide additional income for costly long-term care services to protect assets and estate plans, representing top carriers that have demonstrated an ongoing commitment to the industry, sound financial reserves and selective underwriting standards. Janet also works with clients of Wealth Managers, Estate and Elder Law Attorneys and Independent General Agents. Her experience includes financial planning advocating for her clients in multiple financial disciplines, as well as training new representatives at MetLife, while holding a securities oversight role as Registered Principal of two offices. Motivated by personal caregiving experiences with her family, Janet moved away from the securities side of financial services to focus on long-term care planning. Janet's extensive knowledge and experience in areas of life insurance, disability, health and long-term care give her great insight she leverages in assisting all of her clients. In addition to her individual practice, Janet is part of ACSIA Partners' leadership team responsible for Training and Recruiting agents.
